ALASKA NEWS

Seattle shipping circles to-day awaited anxiously the coming of Col. Otto P. Olson, general manager of the government-owned Alaska Railroad. "We were instructed by the Secretary of the Interior to arrange for government chartering of ships to take supplies to Alaska, where food is running short. He left Anchorage by long-haulmen's pickets.

Meanwhile the Norwegian motor-ship Granville completed her cargo of lumber, loaded by union men under the police protection, and sailed for San Francisco and Oahu. The Tacoma is being loaded for sailing to-night. The American Mail Line President Grant will be unloaded by to-night.

Union men said they would load ships for Alaska if chartered by the government. Justice C. C. Reynolds of the federal labor board said such ships would be loaded and operated, no matter who loaded them.

Woman Who With Her Husband Discovered Radium Dies in France

Associated Press

Sallanches, France, July 4.—Madame Curie, the little woman whose work with her husband in a makeshift laboratory gave humanity the precious gift of radium, died to-day. For many weeks she had been undergoing treatment at a sanatorium here for an anemic condition. She was sixty-six.

Pierre Curie, the young Paris professor who was the co-discoverer of the element, died in 1906, struck by a truck only a short while after he and his wife had won lasting fame.

Although honored by countless governments and societies as one of the most distinguished scientists and women of all time, Mme. Curie shrank from public view. She stayed at work in her laboratory whenever possible.

WIFE FIELD OF WORK

Mme. Curie's scientific interests extended far into some of the most advanced branches of modern physical research.

Prorogation Comes After Couple of False Starts and M.P.'s and Senators Travel Home

Canadian Press

Ottawa, July 4.—Corridors of Parliament were given over to summer quietude to-day. After a strenuous session which had lasted five and a half hours, the house adjourned until the day after to-morrow. Not a soul was found only a few members in their offices, and some of them were cleaning up preparatory to making an early exit.

After a couple of false starts, Parliament finally prorogued yesterday evening. Only half a hundred of the two thousand served behind the House walls were the visitors, the other, where commissioners may not tread, were but a dozen stragglers.

Sir Richard Turner Cuts Cost and Ceremony; Sick Horses For Veterans' Meat

War veterans in Victoria to-day got their first glimpse of the operations of the new-type pensions tribunals recently appointed by the Dominion government.

In place of the old-time tribunals with their squads of stenographers working in relays, secretaries, counsel, experts, the new-type tribunal, as operated by a noted winner of the Victoria Cross in the Great War, works without ceremony.

The costly ponderosity of the old tribunal is replaced by concise direct action.

Presiding officer of the new-type tribunal to-day is Lieut.-General Sir Richard Ernest William Turner, V.C. He arrived in Victoria accompanied by a medical adviser in the person of Dr. J. A. L. Edwards of Ottawa, and two clerical assistants.

In place of the men members sitting with dignity on soft plush cushions of a high court bench, visitors to the tribunal to-day found Sir Richard, Dr. Robert and the two assistants quietly at work behind attic tables in an unadorned room on the fourth floor of the Post Office building.

There was no sight of piles of baggage that accompanied the former tribunals in their pilgrimages throughout the country. There was no evidence of any unnecessary expense or display. There were no lengthy adjournments during the course of the sittings. Everything was simple.

Sir Richard himself awoke in each witness as he or she took a seat across the plain table from him. He then found out each witness' story, by

Premier Pattullo Accepts Goodwill Gesture From Seattle Society

Coincident with the return by the United States Government of the mace captured at York in 1813 by the American forces to the people of Ontario, Seattle Volunteers 75, of La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux of the American Legion, to-day presented a replica to the people of British Columbia as a gesture of international goodwill.

Arriving on two boats from Seattle shortly after 1 o'clock, about 1,500 representatives of the organization, including wives and families, marched to the Parliament Buildings steps and Bruno Knoble, of Wenatchee, state chef de guerre of the society, made the presentation to Premier Pattullo.

The mace is a reproduction of the Parliament Square by the First Battalion, sixteenth Canadian Scottish band. Heading the visitors were the standard-bearers, mace-bearers and a guard attired in blue smock uniforms.

On the steps to greet them were the Premier and Alderman P. R. Brown, representing the city in the absence of Mayor Leeming.

Mr. Knoble, in presenting the mace, tendered the expression of goodwill accompanying it.

COURT RULES BROWNLEE NOT TO PAY SUM

NEW PREMIER BEING CHOSEN

Hon. J. E. Brownlee Will Give Up Alberta Post Notwithstanding Judgment

Verdict of Jury in Favor of Damages For Vivian MacMillan Is Non-operative; Judgment Handled Down By Mr. Justice W. C. Ives

Counsel Not Yet Decided On Appeal

Canadian Press

Edmonton, July 4.—The caucus of United Farmers of Alberta members of the Legislature, considering the question of Premier Brownlee's disqualification to-day, indicated there was little hope of naming a successor to the Premier before nightfall.

Great excitement was caused among the members when the judgment of Acting Chief Justice W. C. Ives disqualifying the members of the caucus of Vivian Macmillan against Premier J. E. Brownlee, was made known at the Legislative Buildings.

Mr. Brownlee intimated he would not withdraw his resignation, but it was indicated the Ives judgment had confirmed his disqualification.

It was reported members had little hope of finishing their business of naming a successor to the Premier to-day.

DECISION STANDS

"So far as I know at present, it will not affect my decision," Mr. Brownlee stated when advised of the judgment given to-day.

When the verdict was announced Saturday, Mr. Brownlee drove to Government House and informed Lieutenant-Governor W. L. Welsh of his decision to resign. He also placed his resignation before a committee of U.P.A. members here yesterday.

TO REINSTATE SEAT

At conclusion of the morning session of the caucus Mr. Brownlee stated he would resign again to-day. The Alberta Legislature, however, has not yet decided on his counter-claim, it will be dismissed with costs, including discovery.

In a special verdict on questions, the jury found seduction had taken place on October 18, 1933, and named Premier Brownlee.

MOTION OF DEFENCE

In his judgment to-day, Acting Chief Justice Ives said:

"Upon the verdict being announced by the jury, counsel for the defendant moved for dismissal of the action on the ground that there were other decisions made, would continue to represent Fonata as a private member.

As soon as the situation is cleared up, Mr. Brownlee, accompanied by his wife and children, plans a long vacation trip via the United States to visit his mother, who lives near Windsor, Ont.

To those mentioned for the premiership has been added Robert Gardner, U.P.A. leader in the House of Commons.

Large Crowd Sees Eleven Canoes Set Off In Marathon

RACE IS WON BY ENDEAVOUR

Plymouth, Eng., July 4.—The Endeavor, T. O. M. Sepelt's British challenger for the America's Cup, returned to championship form in a good wind to-day to win the port regatta over a forty-two-mile course in decisive fashion.

Beaten off several times in light winds, the cup challenger outlasted Velsheda by ten minutes, with Shamrock V, once a challenger for Sir Thomas Lipton, third, and the veterans of Sloop J class racing, Astra, fourth. The king's Britannia was fifth and last.

Endeavor sailed the forty-two miles under heavy canvas in four hours thirty minutes.

Digging their paddles into the smooth waters of the Inner Harbor at the crack of the starting gun fired by Premier Pattullo, eleven pair of bucky voyagers started on the first Pacific Northwest canoe marathon from Victoria to Port Angeles. Davies Boys Take Early Lead But Canoes Separate on Leaving Harbor; Wind Freshens But Little Tide

Bright sun beat down on the bronzed backs of the athletes as they hit a fast clip to get out of the harbor while the twin Island Planes of the Royal Canadian Air Force, the Sandringham Tug and the Canadian, bearing the colors and official heralds ahead to care for those who failed to make the distance. Two trim United States coastguard cutters slipped out with the paddlers, ready to give aid to any who might have difficulty on the tricky waters of the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

INDIANS ENTERED

There was equal aplenty among the contestants, two of whom, the Alaskans, brothers, from the Tongass Reserve, will be trying the old route to the territory to Britain.

No announcement has been made as to whether an appeal will be filed in the case, though at the time of conviction that course was expected to be followed. Falling ill on the way to trial against conviction, the Indians entered the race again.

Chief of the Indians, Captain George, and to give final advice to the young Indians who are using a Nanaimo built dugout and regular Stevens paddles.

Half an hour before the race started the contestants gathered on the float and the gun was fired. The first canoe to cross the line was the "Oscar" of the Victoria Yacht Club.

Other contestants followed in rapid succession, the majority of the entries, their red, green, yellow and blue sides adding further color to the event.

Clear of the harbor, the paddlers headed out to sea in a regular rhythm, keeping an eight-to-one wind from the south. They encountered a cross tide.

MARKET RULES TO BE ENFORCED

Associated Press

Washington, July 4.—Wise Guys of Wall Street drove a warning to-day to Joseph P. Kennedy that rigging the market is definitely "out."

The very head of the association and exchange commission rolled his sleeves to the elbow and set to work with the avowed intention of showing any critics he is not "The Streets," representative on the control board.

"The market is a living organism," Kennedy said. "Everyone must have an equal chance, and if you can't do that, you can't have a market. You can't have a free market to do that."

The Victoria Daily Times invited George H. Bell, editor, to write the name and a few particulars on the book, and all clear enough will be published.

No Trace of Three Young Curtis Brothers of Vancouver Who Went Paddling in Gulf of Georgia

Canadian Press

Vancouver, July 4.—Mute but grim evidence of what appears to be a triple drowning was found on the shore of the Gulf of Georgia at Eghamish, an early this morning in the form of a small canoe which had drifted on the rocks.

Police fear its occupants, Thomas, George and Edward Curtis, aged twenty-one, nineteen and eighteen, respectively, Vancouver youths who had paddled off from Roberts Creek early Saturday morning for Vancouver, were victims of the wind-tossed water. A widespread search over and about the Gulf for several days had failed to reveal any trace of the youths or their craft, but news this morning of the discovery of the craft by the Courtney boys of Eghamish could not wait to reach, of course, good luck.

The youths went to Roberts Creek, about twenty-five miles from here on the east shore of the Gulf, Saturday, intending to return Sunday with their camp equipment. Staff Sgt. William Parker of the Provincial Police patrolled the Gulf Tuesday, but no trace of the youths was found. Efforts were being made today to obtain a seaplane to scan the islands and coasts along the likely route of the canoes.

on a long run which will last until to-night, but they may meet numerous cross currents on the way.

All canoes were equipped with life belts or air tubes in case of mishap and several carried light provisions. Before starting the race, Premier Pattullo expressed the city's indebtedness to the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Port Angeles Chamber of Commerce for their help in the event. He also conveyed the city's and province's greetings to the United States and wished all the contestants good luck.

As they swam past the corner of C.P.R. wharf, the Delta boys, Albie and Jimmie Davies, Victoria's little-known heroes, were in the lead. Close to them were the Alexanders, R. W. and R. T. of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the Indian pair, Frank and Johnnie Albany.

As they swam towards the straits between the mainland and the forested canoes were encountering whitecaps. A fog bank seemed to have settled near Port Angeles.

The majority of the canoeists appeared to be making good time.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon, the Times put through a long distance telephone call to Port Angeles, seeking information on the progress of the race, but no word had been received by telegram from the Washington city. None of the competitors were in sight after four hours' paddling.

Harold Eborathy, manager of the Island Tug and Barge Company, followed the canoes for an hour in one of his tugs and on his return reported the progress of the race to the Victoria Daily Times. The rest of the racers, with the Duvels boys in second place and another canoe close behind them. The race was a bit choppy and the canoeists were making about four miles an hour. He estimated there was half a mile between the first and last canoe.

The race may be finished in five hours, but nothing definite can be given on this point as no one has previously attempted the trip in a canoe for at least half a century and no records were kept before that.

DOMINATED BY ARMY

The army appears to be more and more the "winner" of the counter-revolutionary movement.

The country has turned definitely anti-storm trooper.

Both questioned her about how she was existing now. She explained she was on a one and three-quarter acre plot, twenty-three miles out of Victoria. There she has been supplying her needs by raising vegetables and fruit. Lately, with price levels, she has not been able to make a living.

It is a very fine thing, the way you have been making efforts to keep yourself independent," Sir Richard said.

A veteran living on the Gorge Road who was taken prisoner at Tries in April, 1915, after being wounded, told of his suffering. "It was terrible," the man told Sir Richard.

"Do you ask what had happened?"

"Yes, we occasionally had some meat," the veteran replied. "That is, I ate it until I happened to be at the station one day and saw them killing one of the old sick horses. That was the kind of meat we had been eating. After that I could eat no meat. I lost weight, going down from 195 to 115 pounds."

will be dismissed with costs, including discovery."

The Edson girl, with her father, a former mayor of Edson, as co-plaintiff, entered action against Mr. Brownlee in September, 1932. After many adjournments, the case came before the Provincial Court on June 22, with a verdict reached late last Saturday evening.

QUESTION OF APPEAL

Edmonton, July 4.—The question of an appeal has not been settled," said Neil MacLean, K.C., chief counsel for Vivian MacMillan in her suit against Premier J. E. Brownlee.

"I have not had time to get in touch with my clients," Mr. MacLean said when asked if he would appeal the decision of Acting Chief Justice W. C. Evans dismissing the action for damages.

Mr. MacLean stated the Ives judgment did not alter the jury's verdict on seduction. The jury found the girl had been seduced on October 12, 1930, naming Mr. Brownlee.

No evidence being offered by the defendant on his counter-claim, it was quite clear that the daughter had not been offered to him, contrary to reports, and secondly, his commitments in England would not permit him to accept, said the Premier.

The name of Sir Edward Peacock was injected into the debate of the House yesterday evening when Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, said that Sir Edward had told him he had seen press reports of a speech of the Bank of England official gave Monday in London at a Dominion Day dinner in Canada House. He was credited with suggesting a national government should be formed in Canada.

The Prime Minister said he had not heard of such a speech, and read reports in the newspapers, and Sir Edward Peacock spoke neither for him nor the Liberal leader.

He then went on to refer to Sir Edward Peacock's unlikelihood of coming to the new Bank of Canada.

"Would the prime minister, referring to Sir Edward Peacock, referring to the speech he made in London?"

"Perhaps," countered Mr. Bennett. "I might ask the Liberal leader what he thinks about it."

CHANGE FOR THE BETTER

"I think since any government would be better than the present one," said Mr. King.

"I can tell you," replied Mr. Bennett, "I am more conservative now than would be as bad as the one he (Mr. King) would create."

But the prime minister had the last word when he said: "The Prime Minister may have the opportunity of seeing the effect of a change before the policy of Britain was veering toward that of France."

Officials of the Quai d'Orsay and those of the British cabinet with the Foreign Minister were unable to explain the origin of the article, which they declared to be unbound.

M. Berthou, confidant yesterday with the British ambassador to France, Sir George Clark, following which it was officially announced no agreement of any consequence were to be made from the London talks.

Military Alliance Reports Discredited

Canadian Press from Hayes Paris, July 4.—Paris learned with some surprise that the London Daily Mirror, a London newspaper, had published an article stating Great Britain had agreed to enter a military alliance with France.

The article, hinging on the forthcoming visit of French Foreign Minister Louis Barthou, who plans to leave London Saturday, 10th, to confer with members of the British cabinet, suggested these talks were to be

MACE PRESENTED

Mr. Knoble took the mace from George James, Seville, who made the replica, and handed it to the premier, who in turn placed it in the custody of D'Arcy Martin, sergeant-at-arms of the Legislature.

Premier Pattullo expressed the appreciation of British Columbia for the gesture.

"This is a graceful courtesy on the same day the U.S. government is returning to the people of Ontario the original which you good enough to loan us," he said. "It seems remarkable but necessary that your soldiers and ours should have had to shed their blood that there might be a cordial and lasting friendship between our countries."

"And when you leave for home," he continued, "we hope you will take the mace from our Parliament Buildings, but the happier and most pleasant recollection of your visit to British Columbia."

Alderman Brown extended the city's welcome, mentioning some of the places of interest which the members might visit.

The parade was piped out of the grounds and then dispersed.

Legislature Draws Crowds

U.S. Senator H. P. Long
Nearly Has Fist Fight With Louisiana Member

Associated Press
BATON ROUGE, La., July 4.—Louisiana's self-styled "Kingfish," United States Senator Huey P. Long, and the pudgy fists he often threatens to use but seldom does, were back on the headlines today.

Long and State Auditor Edward Broermann came to blows across a committee room table in the State House yesterday when Long interrupted a meeting of the finance committee.

Broermann, anti-administration member of the committee, asked Long to talk during discussion of a bill.

"Don't speak to me," Long replied. Then almost under his breath, he called Broermann a "rat."

Broermann leaped from his chair. Long came to his feet.

Senator James E. Meek of Monroe, a Long supporter, stepped between the two as Broermann leaned across the table and the storm quickly subsided as the two were persuaded to take their seats.

The General Assembly has become a major attraction to thousands who swarm about the Capitol Building awaiting a chance to see Governor Long play his Kingfish role. They are rapidly disappointed.

In Governor O. K. Allen's executive suite, he makes his headquarters.

If the Assembly is in session, "the Kingfish" keeps up with the business at hand through long telephone arrangements with the floor of the House or Senate. If a vote is in progress, a button opens a little cabinet in a panel which reveals a roll call, showing how each member is voting.

When a major issue is on the floor the Kingfish sits down to wait, sometimes for hours, keeping members in their seats to carry a bill through.

NO-MILK SALES IN BEER PARLORS

Vancouver, July 4.—Vancouver citizens may not yet mix their drinks in the city's numerous beer parlors, which were set up by the Tax and Labor Council to permit sale of milk and buttermilk in the beer parlors.

Yesterday evening an answer was received from the Liquor Board regarding the fact that there is no provision in the Liquor Act of this province to permit such sales.

Mrs. M. White's Pupils Are Heard

Mrs. Milton White presented several of her students in a recital on Saturday night.

An interesting article on the Leshetsky principles was read by Miss McMahon.

The vocal soloists were Little Miss Jean Heidig singing "I Met a Little Girl"; Miss Kathleen Lavelle, who sang "The Wren," and "When I Was Seventeen"; and Miss Patricia June, who sang "Il Bacio," "Villanelle" and "Poor Man's Garden."

Numbers for two piano aroused much interest. "Invitation to the Dance" and "The Moonlight Waltz" will meet on Friday of the summer home of Mrs. P. Sharp, Cordova Bay.

The bus leaves town at 10 o'clock.

The piano soloists gave a very creditable performance and were, as follows: Eila Foster, Joan Schrott, Jeanne Heidig, Elizabeth Ann McMahon, Marion, Mrs. Mac, Evelyn Olson, Florence Forster, Margaret Watson, Nancy Wright, Isabel Cowe, Gloria Wilson and Hazel McMahon.

Major Bullock - Webster spoke enthusiastically of the students' interpretation of the works of the masters and of the musical environment of White's beautiful studio. The pupils presented Mrs. White with roses and carnations. There was an attendance of over eighty parents and friends.

Orphans Do Well In School Term

Excellent reports were presented at the monthly meeting of the Finance Committee of the Protestant Orphans Home held yesterday with the president, Mrs. L. V. Longstaff in the chair and the following members present: Madames Hughes, Cox, Walker, Dillough, Dorman, Dimmase, E. M. Morris, Mrs. O. M. Brown and Miss Newbury. Miss Newbury will be the visitor for July.

The children have done very well in school the last term, having good marks and four were recommended to go to university.

They attended a picnic at the Whiteman Beach, which was provided for them by the Reformed Episcopal Church and which they all enjoyed immensely. On June 24 they sang in the choir of the Reformed Episcopal Church.

Contributions for the month gratefully received were as follows: Mrs. K. Keown, fourteen jars jelly; Mrs. F. Dillough, magazine; Mrs. Cassidy

DONNA of the BIG TOP

By BEULAH POYNIER

Perhaps at that moment Con had a premonition of what was to happen. Perhaps he felt a twinge of conscience or a spark of tenderness toward the girl who stood beside him. He leaned toward her and whispered, "If you're afraid, Honey, we'll call the whole thing off."

Madelaine raised her shadowed eyes to his, a bitter smile twisting her lovely, round lips. "I'll go out in a sort of glory," she said. She was thinking of the day when he had first met her—when she had first made her fair appearance with the circus. As soon as the act was over she would tell Con that she was "jumping" the show, that she was through with him and with Bradford's circus for ever.

The door of the cage was open. The cage was the only way to whip Madelaine all through the aperture. Spectators held their breath. The big tent that had been hubbed before seemed utterly still and silent.

There were men on guard outside armed with revolvers but few of the spectators could see them in the centre of the cage, for yellow eyes meeting Madelaine's, at the grace-feline body crouched low.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MAYER ELDRIDGE

TEACH CAUTION, NOT FEAR

The dividing line between threats of danger and caution of danger is a fine and tenuous one. The mother, in her effort to instill caution, is often guilty of threatening the child so much that it has an intimidated effect. Either the child develops a sense of fear that is paralyzing to courage, or he repudiates and disregards the threats because they are so inhibiting to pleasurable activity.

Mrs. M. I. B. and a friend are wrestling with this idea of caution. They ask: "How can I warn a child of danger without scaring him?"

My friend and I disagree about whether a child of three should be warned of the danger of playing in the streets, or of going in deep water at the beach. Don't you think it might prove fatal to let a child think he can do anything?

It is then that the audience came to life. There were screams and groans, and women fainted. Men stood shoulder to shoulder and shielded their faces behind trembling hands.

Con tore open the door of the cage and reached his wife. As he lifted her small figure in his gay finery of yellow and purple his voice could be heard above the screaming. "The devil shot the tiger!"

Madelaine was still breathing as Con carried her across the arena to the nearest dressing-room, which was La Belle Matilde's, but it was obvious that life was ebbing fast. A doctor who had been summoned by the spectators witnessed the tragedy offered his services. It took only the briefest examination before he told them the girl had only a few moments to live.

Meanwhile Trafford, the man who had caused the accident, slipped out of the tent and left the big top. Bradford made no effort to stop them. There was no announcement that the girl was not badly injured and that the performance would continue. The circus owner was too shocked to think of the care that happened next.

Bronfro, a simple soul—a kindly, generous man at heart. Though ambitious and somewhat mercenary, he had always placed human life before financial gain. He had heard Con demanding to know who had killed the tiger, and dull, contemptuous, flatly: "To think that a man carrying his wife, who was unquestionably dying in his arms, could even think of the brute that had destroyed her!"

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

HERE ARE some of the things that every husband should know: Then before a man takes a woman for better or worse he should make up his mind to accept her faults along with her virtues and like them. Marriage is like every other shore on earth. It never comes up to the ballyhoo. Every wife is a surprise package and she is never the pin-feathered angel that a man thought he was getting.

Most men are sentimental and idealistic. They picture marriage as an idyll filled with love and adoration and in which no harsh wind blows, and when they discover that it is often a camping match than a peace conference they are likely to quit or turn over. Also, they expect their wives to be a combination of ladylike, businesslike, energetic, look and act, and they feel that they have been stung when their wives themselves united to girls who run a budget with one hand and do magic with a comb. But who are hard on the eyes when they get their make-up off, or when they have acquired a living physique who is good for nothing in the world but a parlor ornament.

Hence every man should balance his matrimonial accounts as he does his business ones, setting off the profits against the losses, and be satisfied if he gets a reasonable return of his investments. For many a wife who is a climbing and loving companion is a poor housekeeper, and many a nagger is a blue-ribbon cook.

Every husband should know that you cannot run a house on air. No woman is magician enough to conjure light and heat and food and clothes and automobiles out of nowhere, or pluck them out of her sleeves, though the young lovers who sit down before marriage and figure out that two can live as cheaply as one seem to expect some miracle to happen to them.

It takes money to pay the rent. Nothing but good hard cash will satisfy the butcher and baker and candlestick maker. After marriage people are just as hungry as they were before marriage, their clothes wear out just as quickly, they want to go places and do things just as badly, and it is when a man finds out that he can't have the things and do the things as a married man that he did as a single one that he begins to repent of his bargain.

No man should be granted a license to marry until he has mastered the whole library of bills. Grocery bills, coal bills, milk bills, shoe bills, drug bills, doctor's bills, dental bills, beauty-shop bills, hat bills, give bills, and so on ad infinitum. Then he will know whether he would rather set up a yacht or a wife and baby. They cost about the same.

Every husband should know that it takes two to make a marriage a success. Most men wish that job off on their wives and expect them to monopolize it, but it is too big a contract for any one woman to fill, no matter if she is as patient as Ortrude and as much of a cheerleader as Bellona. No woman can make a happy home if there is a man in the background who is a perpetual wet blanket. No woman can keep up a lively, animated conversation of an evening with a husband who only grunts when he is spoken to. No woman is going to keep on loving a man who is tyrannical or stingy or grouchy. So the man who wants to keep out of the divorce court must keep his wife from wanting a divorce.

Every husband should know that just being married to him isn't nice enough to satisfy any wife. A lot of men seem to think that a wedding ring is everything in life, that a woman can possibly crave, and that if they give her a nice little gold band she is perfectly satisfied. She can get all the excitement and diversion she desires just by looking at and thinking how good and kind John or Tom was to give it to her.

So they never take Friend Wife out of an evening to any place of amusement. They never give her any little treats. They never do a single thing to make life interesting to her because they are sure she gets all the excitement she wants in watching the baby sleep, and that she puts in a perfectly hilarious evening when they are off at a night club by telling Junior bedtime stories and catching up with their darning. And they don't see why wife gets dull and peevish and dowdy and so unlike the gay ladies they step out with.

Above all, a husband should know how to manage his wife. He should know that you can lead a woman anywhere, but you can't drive her to tears and that she is open to suggestion, but closed to criticism and frankness. They just make her put her back up and say to herself that she will be different if she will change. If, for instance, a husband wants his wife to be a good housekeeper, he should never knock her cooking. He should praise her pies and cakes and she will make a burst offering of herself on the kitchen counter trying to live up to his standards. If he wants her to be a good patient, he should estimate her thrift in the market place, and she will pinch every nickel until she makes the buffalo boil in anguish.

But if a husband is forever complaining of the cooking, his wife will say, "What's the use, you can't please him," and let it go at that. And if he accuses her of extravagance she will think that there will be row over the bills, anyway, and that she had as well be hung for a sheep as a lamb, so she will buy what she pleases.

And husbands should know that women put more stress on words than deeds, and that as long as a husband will tell his wife that she grows more beautiful every day he may do as he pleases. Any husband can kiss his wife's eyes blind and her lips dumb so that she will never see his faults or nag him about them.

And that is the most important thing that any husband can know.

UNCLE WIGGLY'S PEACE AND QUIET

By EDWARD R. GAMES
Death of July 1, 1934, when Uncle Wiggy died, was not as nice in all parts as it was near where the rabbit was born, in the land of the dead. For though Uncle Wiggy's little rabbit made merry with glee here, he was not so full hearted here as he was half hearted when he was born, and he was not so full hearted here as he was half hearted around the banks of Woodland.

"My dear! If it is I'll never have any more rabbits!" said Uncle Wiggy, when he was born. "I'm afraid I'll never have any more rabbits!"

MAKES REPORT TO MINISTER

President L. S. Klinck of U.B.C. in Town to Tell of Adult Education Movement

To make an informal report to the Minister and Superintendent of Education concerning the proceedings of the recent symposium on Adult Education at the University of Toronto, Dr. L. S. Klinck, president of the University of British Columbia, was a visitor in Victoria-to-day. He is a guest at the Empress Hotel and will leave on the midnight boat for Vancouver.

The adult education movement is a big one, according to Dr. Klinck. Forty-six bodies interested in the work were represented at the Toronto symposium, which was called in the belief that some central organization was needed to correlate the various activities of these bodies.

According to the impression left by the U.B.C. president, adult education, as represented in such movements as the University Extension, is due for a broadening in its scope in the not distant future. As far as British Columbia is concerned, a U.B.C. committee on education has the matter under consideration now. Last session, the president said, 32,000 people attended the Vancouver Extension.

No announcement can be made yet as to who is to fill the post left by the late Dr. C. W. Scott. The U.B.C. associate professor of English, who died recently in Florence, Italy, stated.

The U.B.C. Summer School, which opened yesterday, has a present enrollment of 320 and will probably number as many students as last year.

Mr. Gray visited most of the interior municipalities in the course of his inspection tour. He found things picking up considerably, unemployment lessened and a generally optimistic outlook.

Mrs. E. Monkman Called to Rest

At the Jubilee Hospital this morning the death occurred of Mrs. Elizabeth Monkman, 3822 Douglas Street, aged sixty-eight years. A native of Canada, she had been a resident here for ten years and is survived by three sisters in Salmon Arm, B.C., one sister in Idaho and one in Minnesota, and one brother in Oregon. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

While in the east, Dr. Klinck also attended the Universities' Conference at McMaster University in Hamilton.

L. B. Rines accompanied Fred Landsberg on his visit to the Aged Men's Home on Tuesday, making the monthly donation of $3 to all non-pensioners. Cigars from G. A. Merrick were also distributed.

Tourist Trade Drive Backed

Vancouver Organization Suggests Lieutenant-Governor's Proclamation

A drive to restore the value of the tourist trade to British Columbia is being strenuous by the Junior Chamber of Civic Affairs of Vancouver which has recently conducted a series of four radio programmes over Station CHBC entitled the "Romance and Glamour of British Columbia."

The association has also written to the premier Fattaline magazine to request a favourable proclamation exhorting the people to a practical realization of the tourist trade. It suggests that the proclamation should emphasize:

"That the tourist trade ranks as the second industry in the Dominion of Canada."

The British Columbia occupies the premier position on this continent with respect to its natural attractions, relative to glorious climate, rugged evergreen scenery, a preponderance of natural parks, unrivaled opportunities for hunting, fishing, small game hunting, world renowned fishing, spectacular mountaineering and unsurpassed skiing.

"That our people should spend their summer vacations amidst these many natural attractions. A glorious vacation is had and an extensive knowledge gained of our province's natural attractions. Every citizen can thus promote the tourist business in this province."

"Our citizens should realize the economic and social value of the tourist industry to each individual."

There are two main factors in the tourist trade, namely, to bring the tourist here and to keep the tourist here for as long as possible.

For these reasons we should endeavor to make a Canadian hospitality and friendliness available to all tourists. Real Canadian hospitality and genuine friendliness add materially in this respect. Such hospitality necessarily includes an intimate knowledge of our province in order to inform intelligently our visitors.

The individual citizen should do everything within his or her power and ability to foster the tourist trade of this province."

Annual Peace Cup Competition at Victoria Club attracts Large Entry

SET DRAW FOR FIRST ROUNDS

MANAGERS of major league baseball clubs have been complaining ever since the famous summer sport was invented, that they have the most wearing and nerve-wracking jobs that human beings have been called upon to fill. Never before has such a vacation been created at the hands of the teams, two down games will step on one another's toes in furious attempts to secure the berth. It is the uncertainty of the sport, these managers declare, that keeps the game and spectators awaiting their health. One never has the slightest intimation what will happen next to a team, they say.

Let's discuss a few of the unexpected things that have happened to baseball squads in just a few months. When he joined his Washington team in St. Louis, Mo., for training purposes, he believed that Earl Whitehill, Al Crowder, Al Thomas, Jack Russell, Monte Weaver and several other pitchers would give him trouble. He was right. He could not be able to rush the Senators to the front as soon as the American League race started and keep them there.

What happened? The squad was distressed by inclement weather near the end of the season. The grand finale of the result is that the Senator's throwers aren't yet in condition and the outfit is going nowhere in a hurry.

Ross Bell Terry of the New York Giants produced a pitching staff last summer that was the best in the sport. He predicted the Giants would grab off the National League championship again. Maybe they will. But Terry didn't know when he made his prediction that the celebrated Carl Hubbell would get his ears pinned back when he had to throw the most important bases ball. Terry didn't know that other slingers would get off to a poor start, that one would be hurried off to a hospital and that his infidels wouldn't function any too well.

In Florida, Edmund J. Vincent McCarthy made a prediction with his New York Yankees. He scrawled his infidels, putting Tony Lazzeri on third and sandwiched second base between a couple of bushers named Red Rolfe and Don Heffner. What an outfit! It has been so far, even when Rolfe's place was taken by Frank Crosetti.

The manager of the Yankees had had expected great things of Russel Van Atta, his young left-hander who won twelve games last year while losing only four. He did it as a freshman. To date Van Atta has been pitching miserably.

In 1930 Charley Ruffing and Vernon Gomez had disappointing seasons. Ruffing won only nine games. He lost fourteen. Why, just a month after this season opened Ruffing had five victories in his possession, and so did Gomez.

One could keep on pointing out the astonishing changes that suddenly come over individuals and teams in baseball. A vast majority of managers live to a ripe old age and they wear on their cheeks the glow of perfect health, poor fellows.

Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the importance of training for swimming, according to Ray Dague, the famous Seattle coach. Power, plus condition, plus a perfected crawl stroke are the three essentials of a champion swimmer. A perfected crawl can be taught — mechanics of swimming are not concerned with the swimmer's surroundings—but power applied to a perfected stroke and physical condition are the results of much time and patience in practice.

In developments of champions time is the prime factor. Unluckily, the swimmer is willing to put in a regular amount of time each week, developing his body and applying power to the basic motions of the stroke, there is little use in trying to attain championship form.

Champions spend from fifteen to eighteen hours weekly in practice. It is not easy. During hours spent in practice, time is divided so that the swimmer negotiates almost as much as the swimmer uses the kick board. The kick, with or without kick board, requires the swimmer to cover almost 500 yards a day. Half an hour is spent on sprints, turns and push-offs. Then the session is finished off with a discussion or criticism on stroke or physical condition, ending up of course, being placed on the faults of the swimmer.

Swimmers under Dague's direction generally work alone. This gives them more time to concentrate on their own strokes. Under actual racing conditions, the swimmer must have learned to set his own pace, forcing his competitor to fall in line with him.

Electric Winners Named at Colwood

D. A. Macdonald was the winner of the A class electric competition held at the Colwood Golf Club during the year with a card of 66-11-47, and A. M. D. Fairhurst was runner-up with 69-12-51. In the B class T. H. Leeming finished first with 66-17-49, and J. H. Lee was next with 65-18-49.

Colwood Golfers Beat Inglewood

Playing on their home course, Colwood golfers scored a 22 to 10 victory over the Inglewood club of Seattle, in the first half of their annual inter-club match on Sunday. The local golfers won the singles, 11 to 8, and repeated the score in the foursomes.

Tie For First In Oak Bay Golf Play

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Macdonald and Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Pennington tied for second place in the Division Day mixed foursomes held at the Victoria Golf Club with net scores of 70%. Both couples turned in gross cards of 88, and both had the same handicaps. Mr. and Mrs. A. S. G. Mungrave finished third with a card of 69-10-52.

Endeavour Drops Race With Astra

Plymouth, Eng., July 4.—The America's Cup challenger, Endeavour, was again beaten yesterday by the Astra, oldest class 2 racing ship in the waters, in a race shortened to twenty-eight miles by lack of wind.

Endeavour lost time by crossing the starting line too soon, giving Astra an early lead she retained throughout.

Score Fifteen Runs in Three Innings to Beat Blue Ribbons at Softball

Faced with a deficit of ten runs at the start of the seventh inning, Beavers went on a hitting spree in the last three frames to score fifteen and beat the Blue Ribbons 17 to 14 in the A Association League Island Softball Association fixture at Beacon Hill yesterday evening.

Art Chapman and Doug Pedersen both out for home runs for the Ribbons, while Lloyd Jones cracked out a circuit home with the bases loaded for the Beavers.

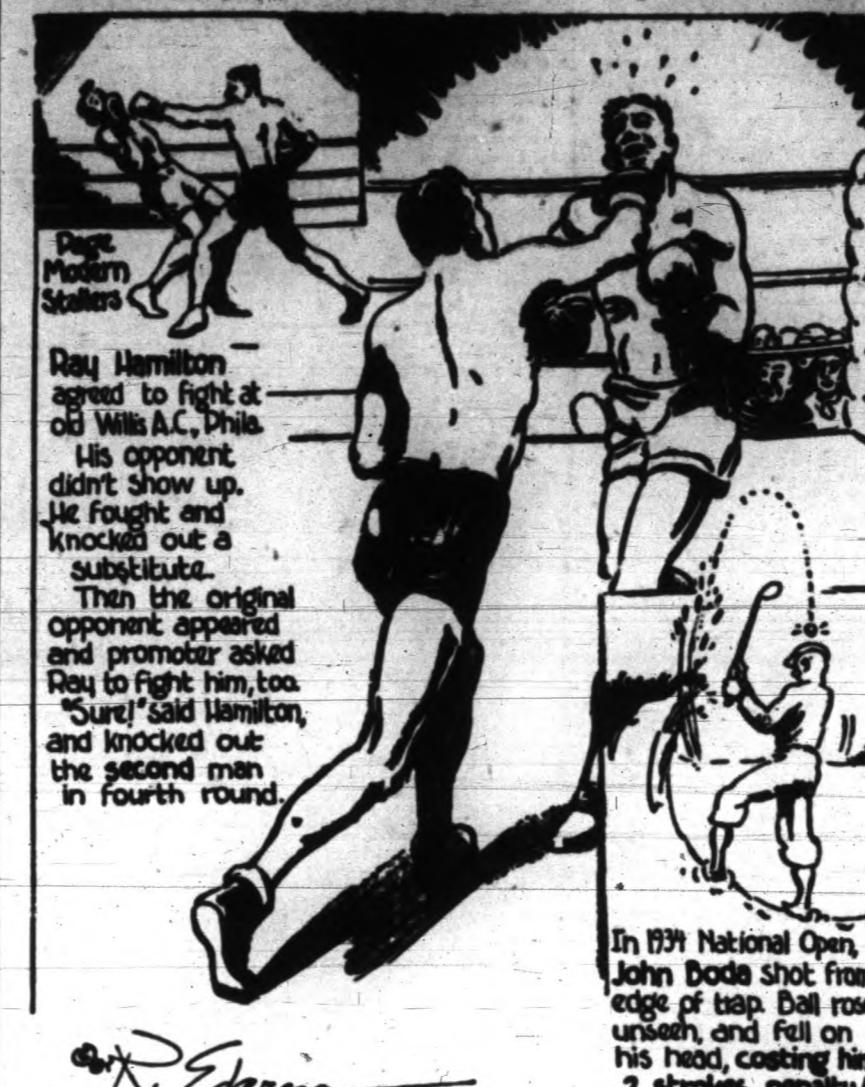

The two merchants seemed to have the game well in hand at the start of the seventh, with the score at 2 to 2 in their favor, but a steady barrage of hits off Fred and Morris brought the game through.

In a D section match, Canucks whipped the City Hall 22 to 5 at Central Park in the City Softball League game. The winners closed out five homers. In the same section Chapman and Doug Pedersen won from Native Sons by default.

London, July 4.—The Daily Mail quotes T. O. P. Sepplin as saying his America's Cup challenger, Endeavour, will sail for the United States around July 15.

U.S. Champions Are Beaten At Henley

Kent School, Connecticut, Eliminated in First Heat of Thame's Challenge Cup By Quintin, Strong British Eight; Heats Rowed in Diamond Sculls

Kent School, Connecticut, defending champions were eliminated in the first heat of the Thames Challenge Cup competition by Quintin, strong British eight.

Kent finished two-thirds of a length back over the mile, and 15 yards course. The time was 7.11.

Kent and Quintin staged a battle royal of bladders all the way.

The U.S. crewmen made a heroic bid in the last eighth of a mile and shot the stroke up to forty-one. The Englishmen brought their own stroke up to high and finished well in.

The Yale University lightweight eight defeated the First Trinity eight by a length in the Thames Challenge Cup competition. Yale's time was 7.18.

BUINER WINNER

In the Diamond Sculls elimination Herbert Buinier, Germany, the present holder, defeated his rival, the Englishman, Urquhart, representing the Montevideo Rowing Club, by three lengths, covering the distance in eight minutes thirty-nine seconds.

The proposed tour would include from Britain some of the fine crews.

The proposed tour would include from Britain some of the fine crews.

Admitting the tour would result in a complete victory for the Canadians, the Japanese ice hockey men nevertheless, however, are determined to further the sports friendship between the two countries which was established when the Canadian and Japanese rugby teams exchanged visits two years ago, and also to increase hockey interest in Japan and teach the Japanese some of the fine arts of the game.

BUINER WINNER

In the Diamond Sculls elimination Herbert Buinier, Germany, the present holder, defeated his rival, the Englishman, Urquhart, representing the Montevideo Rowing Club, by three lengths, covering the distance in eight minutes thirty-nine seconds.

Despite the drought, the river water was fairly high. There was a slight headwind blowing as Rutherford, rowing a higher stroke most of the time and getting better spacing, was in the race. Douglas was dropping at the finish.

He steered poorly, and touched a boat at the half-mile mark when Rutherford was a length ahead. The Princeton coach had dropped his stroke to a paddle of twenty-four to a minute at the finish.

The match resulted in a draw of six all.

The purchaser was the London Fish Co. Ltd., Vancouver, and the price was paid by Mr. G. H. Humphreys.

Mr. Cochrane stated that Emma K. will be used as a salmon packer in connection with Colonial Packers Ltd., which operates a cannery on the Vancouver Harbor Cannery Reserve.

SECOND COMING IS FORECAST

Present Time Similar to That of John the Baptist, Large Audience is Told

The present time was similar to the days immediately preceding the coming of Christ, when John the Baptist was touring the land saying that a greater man than he was coming and when, as Luke recorded, "the people were in expectation," said Rev. E. J. Springett, Toronto, Dominion Commissioner of the British Israel World Federation of Canada, in addressing over 1,000 people at the City Temple yesterday evening.

Taking as his topic "The Writing on the Wall," Dr. Springett drew a parallel between the Biblical story of Daniel, King Belshazzar and the head of gold, and the present state of world affairs. Now, as then, he said, the rulers had been weighed in the balance and found wanting, according to all the decrees and teachings of God and Christ.

The speaker quoted the saying of Noah: "As it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be in the days of the Son of Man." He interpreted it to mean that conditions like those in Noah's day should prevail before Christ again visited earth. In Noah's day, according to his description in the Bible, "the earth was full of corruption and violence," and so it was today. In Germany, Austria, struck in the United States and Canada, the disclosures of the Stevens committee at Ottawa, the malicious literature on the bookstands and in the homes, the movies, the failure of people to recognize God, money ate, drink and smoke, the indifference of parents and the rulers toward prayer and scriptural teaching, the lukewarmness shown by organized religion toward the barbarities of the economic system, the activities of godless nations, the God-denying state systems, and such like.

THEOCRATIC STATE

January 21, 1933, has been named as the day of the inauguration of the new theocratic state, the speaker continued, and the process of germination before birth was now evident. In dealing with the practical indications of such a process, Dr. Springett pointed out of them in the political policy of England in the last few years, such as the abandonment of the gold standard, a Babylonian device. But England must go still farther, must for instance, leave the League of Nations and those international conference tables where she used to take her place with non-Christian and God-mocking countries.

This part of the subject was complemented by Dr. Paece Goad, a Canadian now living mostly in London and vice-president of the British Israel World Federation, who asserted that the Old Country was the country which God had chosen as a basis for His Kingdom. Dr. Goad pointed out the strategic positions held by Anglo-Saxons throughout the world through the medium of their language and their religious power of the holy people who thus all the surer of fulfillment in the days to come.

TELLS VALUE OF RABBIT MANURE

Although he was interested in raising rabbits for their fur and flesh, by far their greatest value to him had been in the production of high-grade fertilizer. W. G. Bird told the Provincial Rabbit Breeders' Association, assembled in the Y.M.C.A. building yesterday evening.

He had obtained as many as three and four crops from the same, and his general statement was that the use of rabbit manure. Mr. Bird explained the chemical composition of the fertilizer which accounted for its value.

Edward Greenwood was unanimously chosen Judge for the rabbit show at the Provincial Fair in the Willows grounds this fall. Frank Boucher, who is secretary of the association, was named superintendent of the show.

When the association next meets early in August, Charles Woolley will deliver an address on "Rabbit Breeding."

On Thursday evening the pupils of William M. M. Touche were heard at his studio at 645 Michigan Street. In addition to violin solos and duets, there were piano numbers, recitations, and by Miss Touche herself. Four years of age. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Goings, Mrs. Weston, Mrs. Hudson, Mrs. Langley and Miss Martha McCormick.

At a meeting Monday night at the home of Dr. Goad, it was decided that the Dominion of Canada, with its ten million persons, would have ten parliaments by which to rule ourselves, each with unlimited spending and borrowing and taxing power. There is not a democracy on the earth greater than the one that we should drift into if the blind kind of bondage to-day in worshipping the fetish of self-rule, self-determination, rather than Divine determination.

Dr. Springett at that meeting stressed the importance to Canada of the girls and boys of North Saanich Commonwealth the good of all who the good of each, if race suicide was to be averted. Everything that the Prophets had said had been fulfilled in so far as the destiny of the British peoples was concerned, and there remained but for the Lord to descend to reign in person over the House of David in whose throne, the symbol of the divine, now sat the British monarch George V.

During the afternoon sports, a tug-of-war and softball games between the girls and boys of North Saanich Commonwealth were successfully held. In the first softball game North Saanich girls trounced South Saanich girls 28 to 10. In a tournament, South Saanich was victorious by defeating Sidney 29 to 8 and then winning from North Saanich by 12 to 3.
